EAA 932 AIR ACADEMY SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST IS UNDERWAY

All McHenry County schools were mailed the Chapter 932 EAA Air Academy Scholarship kits February 25. The contest runs through April 30. Winners will be announced May 15th. We will be providing full scholarships to:

One 12 or 13 year old for a 4 day EAA Primary Aviation Fun Camp at OSH (June)

One 14 or 15 year old for a 5 day EAA Intermediate Aviation Experience Camp (June or July)

One 16, 17 or 18 year old for the 9 day Advanced Leadership Camp to be held at OSH during Air Venture 2002.

The winner in the 16-18 year old group along with 10 runners up in that group will also receive a private pilot ground school course along with Jeppesen course materials and flight case and an introductory flight lesson, all to be offered this summer at Galt.

This is a tremendous opportunity for any McHenry County youth with a serious interest in aviation. If you know any likely candidates, please talk it up! If they haven't heard about the contest in school, all the information along with a downloadable application is available on our Chapter web site at: WWW.EAA932.ORG. Any questions, contact John Theriault, 815-338-4370 x 148 or, john&Sandra@stans.com.

"NEW" CHAPTER WEB SITE

Web master Jeff Hill, Jr. has been busy doing a major overhaul of the Chapter web site. He expects to have the finished product up and running in the first few days of March. In addition to a new crisp, clean format, you will find new features such as a frequently updated "news for members" page and all the info on the Chapter's Air Academy Scholarship contest along with downloadable application form (see previous article). Go: www.eaa932.org.

PASTA POTLUCK

George Zuidema and Jack Ross guard the serving table

The fifty or so members and family members who attended the annual Pasta Potluck February 16th are indebted to Joeleen and Michael Standard for hosting the event in the beautiful and spacious Studio at One Zero Charlie, Michael's graphic arts studio located on the field. As they say, a good time was had by all!

MARCH MEETING

The March membership meeting will be held at Galt Airport Saturday March 9th at 10 AM. After a very brief meeting, we'll motor over to Marengo for our annual look at Mike Kellner's B-17 project. On the way home we'll stop at Union, IL for lunch at Checkers. This is always a fun outing so try not to miss it.

FAA IS SERIOUS ABOUT TFR VIOLATIONS

From AOPA e-pilot

"AOPA is warning that the penalties for violating temporary flight restrictions (TFRs) in the wake of September 11 could be severe. The FAA believes that any pilot who violates the TFRs has demonstrated a substantial disregard for safety and security, warranting a 150 to 240 day suspension or revocation of pilot certificates, according Kathy Yodice, an attorney for AOPA. "The FAA maintains this position even if it is a single, inadvertent, first-time violation, and just a clip of the restricted area," she said. A memorandum to inspectors from FAA headquarters instructs them to seek the more severe sanctions for any violation of a security-related notam. Pilots are advised once again to make sure they have the latest notams before starting a flight. AOPA's Legal Services Plan can help a pilot defend against FAA enforcement actions:

FIRE EXTINGUISHER WARNING

From EAA eHOT LINE 1-48

"The Arkansas Department of Aeronautics reports it is seeing a disturbing increase in the number of Class A-B-C fire extinguishers on airport ramps and airport service vehicles, including fuel trucks. This type of extinguisher poses a severe aircraft damage problem because monammonium phosphate is highly corrosive to aluminum. If used on an airplane, the chemical flows into structural cracks and crevices and can't be washed out as can the dry chemical agents found in B-C type extinguishers. The aircraft must be disassembled to manually clean the surfaces right down to the rivets...."

Also... Everything you ever wanted to know about fire, smoke, and fire extinguishers can be found in one hot spot on AOPA Online. See:
